

TALVUMI Distributor Policy

Formal English policy framework for qualified importers and distributors

Status	Pre-contract framework; not an appointment or offer
Commercial terms	To be agreed in signed schedule
Product status	Launch candidates remain subject to written release
Priority	Signed distribution agreement and schedules prevail

Formal English Policy Framework

Version: 1.0

Date: 30 July 2026

Status: Negotiation framework; not effective until incorporated into or executed with a signed distributor agreement

Commercial principle: Wholesale first; market activation through qualified local partners

> This policy is a commercial and operating framework, not jurisdiction-specific legal advice. The final distributor agreement and all schedules must be reviewed for the applicable territory. Where a commercial term has not been finalized, it is expressly stated as to be agreed in signed schedule.

1. Purpose

This Distributor Policy establishes the principles under which TALVUMI may appoint importers, distributors, retail partners or ecommerce operators for TALVUMI-branded pet food and related products.

Its objectives are to:

- protect product truth, consumer safety and traceability;
- establish a controlled market-entry process;
- define the responsibilities of TALVUMI and the appointed partner;
- protect brand consistency without unlawfully restricting independent resale decisions;
- connect any territory protection to measurable execution;
- ensure that unapproved product, nutrition, regulatory or commercial claims are not made.

This policy does not itself appoint any party, reserve any territory, confirm product availability or create exclusivity.

2. Definitions

For this policy:

- "TALVUMI" means the contracting TALVUMI brand entity identified in the signed agreement.
- "Partner" means an appointed importer, distributor, retailer or ecommerce operator.
- "Products" means only the specific TALVUMI SKUs listed in a signed product schedule.
- "Territory" means the country, region or other area defined in a signed territory schedule.

- “Approved Channels” means the sales channels expressly identified in a signed channel schedule.
- “Approved Materials” means current product, brand and sales assets issued or approved in writing by TALVUMI.
- “Applicable Law” means all laws, regulations, official requirements, binding standards and platform rules applicable to the Products, Territory and Approved Channels.
- “Product File” means the approved set of product identity, formula, ingredient, nutrition, feeding, quality, packaging, shelf-life and traceability information applicable to a SKU.
- “Recall” includes recall, withdrawal, stop-sale, quarantine or other corrective market action.
- “Signed Schedule” means a schedule signed by authorized representatives of the relevant contracting parties and expressly incorporated into their agreement.

3. Eligibility and Due Diligence

TALVUMI may require a prospective Partner to provide and periodically update:

- legal entity, ownership and beneficial-ownership information;
- company registration, tax and banking information;
- licenses required to import, register, warehouse, market or distribute pet food;
- territory, channel and customer-account information;
- warehouse, fulfilment and transport capabilities;
- inventory, batch and expiry-control procedures;
- complaint, adverse-event, withdrawal and recall procedures;
- relevant insurance information;
- ecommerce stores, marketplace accounts and social-commerce capabilities;
- existing principal brands and potential conflicts;
- financial references or credit information where appropriate;
- launch plan, staffing, budget and forecast.

TALVUMI may approve, condition, defer or decline an appointment based on commercial fit, legal capability, operational readiness, conflict risk or incomplete due diligence.

The Partner must promptly notify TALVUMI of any material change to its ownership, licenses, financial condition, facilities, key channels or ability to perform.

4. Appointment

No appointment is effective without a signed distributor agreement or other authorized written appointment.

The appointment must identify:

- the legal contracting parties;
- the Products;
- the Territory;
- the Approved Channels;
- the effective date and term;
- whether the appointment is non-exclusive, protected or exclusive;
- any excluded customers, accounts, platforms or channels;
- registration, import and responsible-party roles;
- commercial and performance schedules.

Unless a signed schedule expressly states otherwise, an appointment is non-exclusive and does not restrict TALVUMI from appointing other partners or serving customers through other lawful channels.

The Partner may not appoint sub-distributors, agents, resellers or marketplace operators outside normal arm’s-length resale without prior written approval where the agreement requires such approval.

5. Territory and Channel Control

The Partner may market and distribute Products only:

- within the Territory;
- through Approved Channels;
- under the product registrations and labels approved for that Territory;
- in accordance with Applicable Law and the signed agreement.

The Partner must not knowingly:

- export or divert Products outside the Territory;
- sell to a customer reasonably believed to be reselling outside the Territory;
- list Products on an unapproved marketplace or social-commerce account;
- remove or obscure batch, date, importer, responsible-party or traceability information;
- relabel a Product without the required written approval;
- represent that a local appointment extends beyond its actual Products, Territory or channels.

Rules for passive sales, customer restrictions, marketplace limitations and cross-border trade must be adapted to Applicable Law and are to be agreed in signed schedule.

6. Product Scope and Release Status

Only Products listed in a signed product schedule may be offered, ordered, registered, advertised or sold by the Partner.

A working product concept, visual mockup, prototype package, sample or distributor catalog does not establish:

- final formula;
- legal product name;
- nutritional adequacy;
- approved claim;
- certification;
- registration;
- commercial availability;
- price;
- MOQ;
- production lead time;
- exclusivity.

TALVUMI may designate a Product as:

- under development;
- under market review;
- approved for sample evaluation only;
- approved for registration;
- approved for sale in a specified Territory;
- temporarily suspended;
- discontinued.

The Partner must observe the current written status.

7. Regulatory and Import Responsibilities

The allocation of responsibilities for registration, notification, import permits, veterinary or health certification, customs clearance, local testing, translation, label review, importer details and responsible-party obligations is to be agreed in signed schedule.

Unless the signed agreement states otherwise, the Partner is responsible for determining and maintaining the legal ability to import, warehouse, market and distribute Products in its Territory.

The Partner must:

- provide complete and accurate local regulatory requirements;
- use qualified local advisers where necessary;
- submit only documents authorized for that purpose;
- preserve confidentiality of technical and commercial files;
- obtain written label approval before print or local relabeling;
- maintain licenses, registrations and permits;
- notify TALVUMI of regulatory changes, inspections, inquiries or enforcement;
- avoid describing registration, notification or import clearance as a product-quality certification.

No party may publish “FDA approved,” “AAFCO certified,” “FEDIAF certified,” “veterinary approved,” “clinically proven” or a similar statement unless the exact SKU-specific wording is lawful, accurate and supported by an approved record.

8. Product Information, Labels and Claims

The Partner may use only the current Approved Materials and approved market-specific label.

The Partner must not create, translate, adapt or publish:

- ingredient claims;
- nutrition or functional claims;
- disease, therapeutic or preventive claims;
- comparative or superiority claims;
- “natural,” “organic,” “human-grade,” “holistic,” “single-protein,” “limited ingredient,” “grain-free” or similar claims;
- sustainability, recyclability, ethical-sourcing or carbon claims;
- certifications, seals or professional endorsements;
- unapproved feeding or transition guidance;
- unapproved statements about country of origin, manufacturing process or ingredient source.

Any local-language translation must:

- use the approved source text;
- be reviewed by the Partner for legal and linguistic accuracy;
- be approved through the agreed label or material workflow;
- preserve all qualifications, units and limitations.

The Partner is responsible for ensuring that retailers, creators, affiliates, sales staff and sub-distributors follow the same requirements.

9. Orders and Forecasts

The Partner must submit purchase orders in the agreed form. A purchase order is not accepted until confirmed in writing by an authorized TALVUMI contracting party.

The following are to be agreed in signed schedule:

- order currency;
- prices and price tiers;
- MOQ by SKU;
- total order MOQ;
- case and pallet multiples;
- order lead time;
- order cut-off;
- forecast horizon and update frequency;
- binding and non-binding forecast periods;
- order acceptance procedure;

- permitted changes and cancellation;
- quote validity;
- sample quantities and freight;
- private-label, artwork, cylinder, plate, tooling or testing charges, if applicable.

Forecasts must be prepared in good faith. Unless expressly stated in a signed schedule, a forecast is a planning tool and not a purchase commitment.

TALVUMI may reject or condition an order that exceeds available approved capacity, conflicts with product-release status, fails credit requirements or would create a legal or quality risk.

10. Prices, Taxes and Resale

Wholesale prices, currency, applicable taxes, duties, surcharges, price-review mechanism and notice periods are to be agreed in signed schedule.

The Partner is responsible for its local taxes, import duties, customs charges, marketplace fees, fulfilment costs, advertising costs and other downstream costs except where the signed schedule states otherwise.

Any recommended resale price, suggested promotion or channel price architecture issued by TALVUMI is non-binding unless Applicable Law permits and a signed agreement lawfully provides otherwise.

The Partner remains independently responsible for setting its resale prices in compliance with competition and consumer law.

The Partner must not use deceptive discounting, false reference prices, hidden fees or misleading pack-size comparisons.

Rules for promotional notice, marketplace coupons, bundles, clearance and short-dated inventory are to be agreed in signed schedule.

11. Payment and Credit

Payment terms, deposit, balance timing, credit limit, security, bank charges, late-payment consequences and accepted payment method are to be agreed in signed schedule.

The Partner must pay only to the beneficiary account identified in an authorized invoice or verified written notice.

Any requested change of beneficiary account must be independently verified through an agreed anti-fraud process.

TALVUMI may suspend order acceptance, production release or shipment where payment obligations, credit conditions or verification requirements have not been met.

12. Delivery, Title and Risk

The applicable Incoterm, Incoterms edition, named place, export port, delivery window, title transfer, risk transfer, freight responsibility, insurance and document set are to be agreed in signed schedule.

Estimated production or delivery dates are not guaranteed unless expressly accepted as binding in a signed schedule.

The Partner must promptly inspect:

- container or vehicle condition;
- seal number where applicable;
- pallet and case condition;
- product quantity;
- SKU and batch identity;
- date coding;
- visible leakage, crushing, moisture or contamination.

Notice periods and evidence required for shortage, transit-damage or visible-defect claims are to be agreed in signed schedule.

13. Storage, Handling and Inventory

The Partner must store and handle Products according to:

- the approved label;
- Product File requirements made available to the Partner;
- Applicable Law;
- good warehouse and pest-control practice.

The Partner must:

- maintain batch-level receipt and dispatch records;
- use first-expired, first-out where appropriate;
- monitor remaining shelf life;
- prevent contamination, moisture, excessive heat, damage and unauthorized access;
- keep Products in original approved packaging unless authorized otherwise;
- segregate quarantined, damaged, returned or recalled stock;
- retain traceability records for the legally required or contractually agreed period;
- report material storage excursions or product damage.

Minimum remaining shelf life on delivery, channel sell-through thresholds and short-dated inventory procedures are to be agreed in signed schedule.

14. Quality Release and Batch Traceability

Products may be shipped only after the applicable release process has been completed.

The evidence supplied with or made available for each shipment is to be agreed in signed schedule and may include:

- SKU and batch identification;
- production and best-before/expiry date;
- quantity and case/pallet information;
- certificate of analysis or release summary where applicable;
- required export, veterinary, health or origin documents;
- approved product and packaging version.

The Partner must be able to trace each batch to:

- receipt;
- warehouse location;
- customer or downstream account;
- quantity sold, remaining or returned.

The Partner must conduct a traceability or recall exercise if required by Applicable Law or the signed quality schedule.

15. Complaints, Adverse Events and Escalation

The Partner must maintain a trained local contact and accessible customer-service route.

The Partner must promptly record and escalate:

- suspected illness or adverse events;
- contamination, foreign material or off-odor;
- swelling, leakage, damaged seals or packaging failure;
- incorrect label, batch or date code;
- significant palatability complaint patterns;
- suspected counterfeit or diverted Product;
- government, veterinarian, retailer or platform inquiry;
- any event that may require stop-sale, withdrawal or recall.

The exact notification time, report form, required evidence, sample retention and investigation responsibility are to be agreed in signed quality schedule.

The Partner must not admit fault, make a medical conclusion or issue a public statement on behalf of TALVUMI without authorization, except where immediate action is legally required.

Consumer safety and legal reporting obligations take priority over brand communications.

16. Recall and Market Withdrawal

Each party must maintain the capability to support a timely Recall.

The signed quality schedule should address:

- who may initiate or recommend action;
- regulatory notification;
- stop-sale and stock quarantine;
- downstream customer notification;
- public communication;
- product retrieval, disposal or rework;
- record access and reconciliation;
- root-cause investigation;
- cost allocation;
- mock recall frequency;
- post-action review.

Final authority, cost allocation and liability are to be agreed in signed schedule and reviewed under Applicable Law.

The Partner must immediately follow a lawful stop-sale or Recall instruction applicable to Products in its control.

17. Returns, Damage and Product Disposition

The following are to be agreed in signed schedule:

- return eligibility;
- authorization process;
- claim notice period;
- required photographs, batch records and transport evidence;
- treatment of transit damage;
- treatment of manufacturing defect;
- treatment of retailer or consumer returns;
- short-dated and expired inventory;
- credit, replacement or rejection rules;
- inspection and destruction;
- cost allocation.

Returned pet food must not be returned to sale unless its integrity, storage history, legal status and quality have been formally approved.

The Partner must not destroy, relabel, donate, rework or export disputed Product without written authorization where such authorization is required.

18. Brand and Intellectual Property

All TALVUMI trademarks, designs, artwork, copy, product data, images, video and other brand assets remain the property of their lawful owner.

The Partner receives only a limited, revocable, non-transferable right to use Approved Materials for the Products, Territory, Approved Channels and term of appointment.

The Partner must not:

- register or attempt to register a TALVUMI trademark, company name, domain, social handle, marketplace brand account or confusingly similar identifier;
- modify the logo or packaging;
- create unauthorized product variants or bundles;
- use TALVUMI assets for another brand;
- sublicense assets except as expressly permitted;
- continue use after expiration or termination.

Local domain names, social accounts, marketplace brand stores and advertising accounts using TALVUMI are to be agreed in signed schedule, including ownership, administrator access and transfer on termination.

Suspected infringement or counterfeit activity must be promptly reported.

19. Ecommerce and Marketplace Policy

Marketplace access is not automatic.

The Partner may list Products only:

- on Approved Channels;
- using approved seller identities;
- with current labels and genuine inventory;
- using Approved Materials;
- with accurate availability, net contents, delivery and returns information;
- in compliance with platform and consumer law.

The Partner must not:

- merge TALVUMI listings with another brand or unauthorized product;
- reuse reviews from another product;
- manipulate ratings, reviews or search terms;
- use an inaccurate country of origin;
- list unreleased, out-of-territory or short-dated Product without approval;
- publish unapproved product comparisons;
- use misleading before-and-after content;
- sell through an unauthorized drop-ship or cross-border route.

Marketplace account ownership, brand-registry control, content access, advertising roles and data sharing are to be agreed in signed schedule.

20. Marketing, Creators and Social Commerce

The Partner is responsible for ensuring that all local marketing is truthful, supportable and compliant.

Before publication, creators, affiliates, livestream hosts, retail staff and agencies must receive:

- the approved product fact sheet;
- approved claims and prohibited claims;
- correct pack and feeding information;
- disclosure requirements for paid or gifted relationships;
- an escalation contact for product or health questions.

The Partner must not encourage:

- medical diagnosis or treatment claims;
- fabricated veterinarian endorsements;

- fake feeding trials or fabricated transformations;
- unsafe feeding;
- concealment of sponsorship;
- claims based only on personal opinion where evidence is legally required;
- disparagement of competitors through unsupported statements.

Approval process, marketing contribution, campaign deliverables, content ownership, creator fees and performance reporting are to be agreed in signed schedule.

21. Samples

Samples may be provided only where the sample product, pack, label, import route and distribution method are legally and operationally appropriate.

Sample availability, quantity, cost, freight, taxes, permitted recipients and handling are to be agreed in signed schedule.

Samples must:

- be identified by SKU and batch;
- carry required product and use information;
- be stored and distributed correctly;
- not be repacked into unapproved containers;
- not be represented as a final commercial SKU if they are prototypes;
- not be sold unless approved for sale.

The Partner must maintain sample-distribution records where required.

22. Reporting and Business Review

Reporting frequency, format and definitions are to be agreed in signed schedule.

The business review may include:

- sell-in and sell-through by SKU and channel;
- inventory by batch and remaining shelf life;
- forecast accuracy and reorder status;
- active retail doors and ecommerce listings;
- weighted and numeric distribution where relevant;
- retailer and consumer feedback;
- returns, complaints and adverse events;
- content, creator and advertising output;
- unauthorized listings or price confusion;
- registration and launch milestones;
- marketing spend and agreed support;
- overdue receivables;
- corrective actions.

The Partner must not provide fabricated, selectively misleading or knowingly incomplete performance data.

23. Exclusivity and Performance Protection

Exclusivity is not earned solely through an opening order.

Any exclusive or protected rights are to be agreed in signed schedule and should define:

- Products;
- Territory;
- Approved Channels;

- excluded or reserved accounts;
- registration milestones;
- launch date;
- minimum purchases;
- rolling forecast;
- distribution targets;
- service and inventory standards;
- marketing obligations;
- reporting;
- payment performance;
- review periods;
- cure process;
- conversion to non-exclusive status.

Failure to meet agreed performance or compliance conditions may lead to reduction, suspension or loss of protection in accordance with the signed agreement.

Nothing in this section should be applied in a manner that violates competition law.

24. Product Change, Suspension and Discontinuation

TALVUMI may need to change, suspend or discontinue a Product for quality, supply, packaging, legal, regulatory, commercial or brand reasons.

Notice, treatment of accepted orders, label transition, remaining inventory, registration update and obsolete materials are to be agreed in signed schedule.

The Partner must not continue using outdated Product information or packaging after the approved transition period.

No formula, label, packaging, manufacturer or origin change should be communicated to customers until the approved communication is issued.

25. Confidentiality and Data

The Partner must protect non-public:

- formulas and technical files;
- test reports and quality records;
- pricing and commercial schedules;
- customer and channel information;
- launch plans;
- unreleased artwork and Products;
- account credentials and traceability data.

Confidentiality duration, permitted use, disclosure exceptions and return or destruction requirements are to be agreed in signed agreement or schedule.

Each party must comply with applicable privacy and cybersecurity requirements for partner, customer, creator and consumer data.

No party may upload confidential Product Files to a public AI tool, public drive or uncontrolled messaging group without authorization.

26. Ethics, Anti-Bribery and Trade Compliance

Each party must comply with applicable:

- anti-bribery and anti-corruption laws;

- sanctions and export-control requirements;
- customs and origin rules;
- tax and invoicing laws;
- competition and consumer-protection laws;
- labor and modern-slavery requirements;
- product-safety and environmental rules.

The Partner must not offer or accept an improper payment, conceal product origin, falsify a certificate, misclassify goods or use an unauthorized intermediary.

Material violation may be grounds for suspension or termination, subject to the signed agreement.

27. Insurance, Warranty, Liability and Indemnity

Product warranty, insurance requirements, exclusions, liability limits, indemnities, claim control and consequential-loss treatment are to be agreed in signed agreement and schedule after jurisdiction-specific legal review.

No catalog, presentation, sample or informal communication creates a warranty beyond the signed agreement.

Nothing in the final agreement should exclude a responsibility that cannot lawfully be excluded.

28. Term, Renewal and Termination

Term, renewal, notice, cure periods and termination rights are to be agreed in signed agreement or schedule.

The final agreement should address, as applicable:

- loss of license or regulatory status;
- material quality or claims breach;
- unauthorized sales or diversion;
- failure to pay;
- failure to meet protected-territory milestones;
- insolvency;
- bribery, sanctions or fraud risk;
- misuse of intellectual property;
- repeated reporting or service failure;
- change of control.

Post-termination rights concerning remaining inventory, sell-off, returns, registrations, websites, social accounts, data, confidential information and brand assets are to be agreed in signed schedule.

Consumer safety, Recall, confidentiality and accrued-payment duties should survive as legally appropriate.

29. Force Majeure

Force-majeure events, notice, mitigation, allocation of constrained supply and termination after extended disruption are to be agreed in signed agreement.

A party relying on force majeure should provide timely notice and reasonable supporting information, and should take reasonable steps to reduce avoidable impact.

30. Governing Law and Dispute Resolution

Governing law, courts or arbitration, seat, language and escalation process are to be agreed in signed agreement after legal review.

Parties should first use the named commercial contacts to attempt good-faith resolution without delaying urgent quality, regulatory or consumer-safety action.

31. Document Priority

The signed distributor agreement should establish the priority among:

1. signed amendments;
2. signed schedules;
3. the distributor agreement;
4. the signed quality agreement;
5. approved purchase-order confirmations;
6. this Distributor Policy;
7. catalogs, presentations and marketing materials.

No catalog or marketing material overrides a signed contractual term.

32. Required Schedules

The parties should complete, as applicable:

Schedule A — Parties, Territory and Appointment

- contracting entities;
- Territory;
- Products;
- Approved Channels;
- non-exclusive, protected or exclusive status;
- reserved accounts and exclusions;
- effective date and term.

Schedule B — Products and Commercial Terms

- approved SKUs and specifications;
- price and currency;
- MOQ;
- case and pallet multiples;
- sample terms;
- payment;
- quote validity;
- price review.

All undecided items are to be agreed in signed schedule.

Schedule C — Forecast, Orders and Logistics

- forecast cadence;
- order process;
- lead time;
- Incoterm and named place;
- shipping documents;
- delivery and inspection;
- remaining shelf-life requirement.

Schedule D — Regulatory and Quality Responsibilities

- registration and importer roles;
- label approval;
- testing and release documents;

- complaint and adverse-event escalation;
- Recall and cost allocation;
- traceability and record retention.

Schedule E — Launch, Marketing and Reporting

- launch date;
- approved channels;
- marketing deliverables;
- creator and content governance;
- marketplace ownership;
- reporting and business review.

Schedule F — Exclusivity and Performance

- protected Products, Territory and channels;
- minimum purchases;
- distribution and service targets;
- registration milestones;
- review periods;
- cure process;
- conversion to non-exclusive status.

33. Partner Acknowledgment

Before appointment, the Partner should acknowledge that:

- planned Products are not available until formally released;
- only approved labels and claims may be used;
- product registration or import permission may be market- and SKU-specific;
- price, MOQ, payment, delivery, territory and exclusivity are not established by a catalog;
- all undecided commercial terms are to be agreed in signed schedule;
- consumer safety, traceability and lawful communication take priority over sales speed.

Signature Framework

This policy becomes binding only to the extent expressly incorporated into a signed agreement.
