

TALVUMI

VISIBLE NUTRITION. VERIFIABLE QUALITY.

Wholesale-first international pet nutrition · Pre-launch partner edition

Premium cues are everywhere. Proof is harder to find.

Pet parents are asking more questions about what is in the bowl, who made it, how a claim is supported and whether the product is worth its everyday feeding cost.

Retailers and distributors face a related challenge: many new brands look premium, but arrive without a disciplined product file, a workable local launch plan or enough commercial flexibility to build repeat sales.

TALVUMI is being developed around a practical middle ground:

- distinctive enough to win attention;
- clear enough to explain in seconds;
- disciplined enough to support importer review;
- accessible enough to pursue repeat purchase, not only first-trial curiosity;
- structured for wholesale partnerships before uncontrolled retail expansion.

Our intended position: verifiable, affordable premium pet nutrition.

Make the value visible. Make the quality checkable.

TALVUMI is designed around three layers of proof.

1. Visible product experience

The product, kibble texture and any recipe inclusions should be shown as they genuinely are. Pack imagery and selling content must match the approved commercial specification.

2. Clear product information

Each commercial SKU should communicate one understandable lead reason to consider it, supported by the approved ingredient, nutrition, process or quality file.

3. Batch-linked verification

Where the operating system is activated, a batch reference may connect partners and customers to relevant product and quality information. The exact information made available will depend on the confirmed product file, applicable law and market approval.

TALVUMI does not treat decoration as evidence.

Built to help partners sell, not merely stock.

A differentiated visual system

High-contrast color, a strong shelf block and product-led imagery are intended to remain recognizable in a retail aisle, marketplace thumbnail, livestream frame and distributor sales sheet.

A focused opening range

The project begins with a small number of launch candidates rather than an oversized catalog. Final market assortments will be selected with the appointed importer-distributor.

Wholesale-first discipline

TALVUMI intends to establish import, registration, inventory, customer service and channel economics before enabling local consumer checkout.

Market-specific execution

Legal names, labels, languages, registrations, responsible-party information and claims will be reviewed for the destination market before print and sale.

Partner-ready launch tools

Subject to product and market approval, the program may include product training, retailer sell-in materials, approved content, product data files and campaign templates.

Commercial flexibility with control

Pack mix, order structure, launch territory, channel scope, pricing, payment, delivery and performance terms are to be agreed in signed schedule.

A focused range for retail trial and wholesale depth

The following are launch candidates under development. Names are working descriptions, not approved legal product names or final labels.

Working code · Working product description · Intended species / stage · Planned pack formats · Commercial status

TVM-CA-AOF · Adult Cat Ocean Fish Recipe with freeze-dried pieces · Cat / adult · 1.5 kg and 10 kg · Final formula, product name, claims, pack and market approval pending

TVM-DO-BEF · Adult Dog Beef Recipe with freeze-dried pieces · Dog / adult · 1.5 kg and 10 kg · Final formula, product name, claims, pack and market approval pending

TVM-KI-AOF · Kitten Ocean Fish Recipe · Cat / kitten · 1.5 kg and 8 kg · Nutrition basis, final formula, product name, pack and market approval pending

Important: Pack formats are planned formats for engineering and commercial assessment. Final net contents, product specifications, case packs and availability are subject to written confirmation.

No standalone freeze-dried treat is included in this opening range unless and until a separate complete product file is approved.

Adult Cat Ocean Fish Recipe

Working concept — not final consumer label copy

Intended role

A visually distinctive adult cat dry-food candidate for specialist retail, ecommerce trial and multi-cat household conversion.

Planned formats

- 1.5 kg: intended as the primary trial and repeat-purchase retail format;
- 10 kg: intended for approved wholesale, multi-cat, breeder, boarding or high-consumption channels.

Product information to be confirmed before sale

- final legal product name;
- complete ingredient list;
- ingredient naming and recipe descriptor;
- guaranteed or analytical constituents, as applicable;
- metabolizable energy or calorie content;
- nutritional adequacy and life-stage basis;
- feeding guide;
- final proportion and description of freeze-dried pieces;
- allergen and cross-contact information;
- shelf life and storage conditions;
- final pack material, dimensions and case configuration;
- destination-market label and registration status.

Proposed selling structure after approval

See it: authentic product and inclusion imagery.

Understand it: one approved lead product message.

Verify it: batch and product information made available through the approved system.

No nutrition or functional claim should be inserted on this page until the supporting SKU file and market wording are approved.

Adult Dog Beef Recipe

Working concept — not final consumer label copy

Intended role

An adult dog dry-food candidate designed for strong visual communication, first-purchase sampling and conversion into larger household formats.

Planned formats

- 1.5 kg: intended for initial retail trial, creator sampling and ecommerce acquisition;
- 10 kg: intended for repeat households, professional pet channels and approved distributor programs.

Product information to be confirmed before sale

- final legal product name;
- complete ingredient list and actual beef-related ingredients;
- ingredient ordering and recipe naming eligibility;
- guaranteed or analytical constituents, as applicable;
- metabolizable energy or calorie content;
- nutritional adequacy and life-stage basis;
- feeding guide by weight and activity;
- final proportion and description of freeze-dried pieces;
- allergen and cross-contact information;
- shelf life and storage conditions;
- final pack material, dimensions and case configuration;
- destination-market label and registration status.

Proposed selling structure after approval

Attention: high-contrast pack and genuine bowl-level product content.

Reason to believe: approved product, process and quality facts.

Reason to reorder: a locally viable feeding cost and reliable availability.

All specific product benefits remain subject to the approved commercial specification and destination-market review.

Kitten Ocean Fish Recipe

Working concept — not final consumer label copy

Intended role

A kitten dry-food candidate for specialist kitten households, breeders, rescue partners and multi-cat channels after the life-stage nutrition basis has been verified.

Planned formats

- 1.5 kg: intended as the core specialist retail and household trial format;
- 8 kg: intended for approved high-consumption and professional channels.

Mandatory release condition

This range must not be promoted or sold for kittens until the complete nutrition basis, formulation, analytical data, feeding guidance and destination-market requirements have been reviewed and approved in writing.

Product information to be confirmed before sale

- final legal product name;
- complete ingredient list;
- guaranteed or analytical constituents, as applicable;
- metabolizable energy or calorie content;
- kitten life-stage nutritional adequacy;
- feeding guide by age and body weight;
- transition and storage guidance;
- allergen and cross-contact information;
- shelf life and final packaging;
- destination-market label and registration status.

Designed for recognition. Engineered through testing.

The planned packaging family uses a consistent TALVUMI brand block, clear species and life-stage navigation, strong product imagery and a fixed evidence area.

Planned pack roles

Planned format · Intended role · Packaging direction

1.5 kg · Retail trial and repeat purchase · Resealable small-format pouch under engineering review

8 kg · High-consumption kitten/multi-cat or professional channel · Reinforced large-format pouch under engineering review

10 kg · Household, breeder, boarding and wholesale depth · Reinforced large-format pouch under engineering review

What is not yet final

Bag style, dimensions, laminate structure, thickness, zipper, handle, oxygen and moisture barrier targets, case pack and pallet configuration remain subject to:

- actual product density and fill testing;
- packing-line compatibility;
- sealing and leak testing;
- drop, vibration, stacking and handle testing;
- food-contact and migration review;
- shelf-life and stability work;
- importer and destination-market label approval.

Packaging illustrations are design direction only until a signed physical sample and production specification are approved.

The commercial file comes before the commercial claim.

Each released SKU is expected to pass five internal gates.

Gate 1 — Product identity

Approved formula, complete ingredient list, legal product name, intended species, life stage and net contents.

Gate 2 — Nutrition and feeding

Applicable analytical information, energy, nutrition basis and feeding guidance supported by the responsible technical file.

Gate 3 — Quality and traceability

Finished-product release criteria, batch identification, relevant test records, complaint route and recall readiness.

Gate 4 — Packaging and stability

Approved material, real-fill performance, print and date-code legibility, transport performance and shelf-life basis.

Gate 5 — Market release

Importer/responsible party, registration or notification route, label language, legal review, approved sales assets and operational readiness.

A product is not commercially released merely because a visual mockup exists.

A launch system that grows with the market

The exact deliverables for each appointed partner are to be agreed in signed schedule and may include:

Commercial tools

- approved distributor price list;
- SKU and case configuration sheet;
- order form and forecast template;
- landed-cost working file;
- retail channel presentation;
- reorder and inventory review template.

Product tools

- approved product data sheet;
- approved ingredient and nutrition information;
- feeding guide;
- pack images and barcode data;
- batch and quality-document access as applicable;
- customer service and issue-escalation process.

Sales and training tools

- distributor team onboarding;
- product fact and prohibited-claim guide;
- retail staff training deck;
- ecommerce product copy;
- frequently asked questions;
- product comparison framework limited to supportable facts.

Launch content

- approved still images and short-form video assets;
- creator briefing and claim guardrails;
- retailer social templates;
- launch calendar framework;

- sampling instructions where samples are legally and operationally available.

No asset may be altered to add unapproved claims, certifications, endorsements or comparative statements.

Who we want to build with

TALVUMI is seeking partners that can turn brand interest into compliant, repeatable distribution.

Priority partner types

1. licensed importer-distributors with active specialist pet retail coverage;
2. national or regional distributors able to register, stock and service the range;
3. pet retail chains and specialist ecommerce operators;
4. experienced local operators serving breeders, boarding, grooming or other relevant professional channels;
5. veterinary or health-oriented channels only where product positioning and claims are appropriate and approved.

Core qualification areas

- legal ability to import, register, market and distribute pet food;
- experience with pet nutrition or closely related categories;
- active retail, ecommerce and/or professional account base;
- warehouse, batch control and fulfilment capability;
- customer service, complaint handling and recall readiness;
- content, ecommerce and local-language execution;
- realistic opening-order capacity and rolling forecast;
- launch budget and assigned sales owner;
- transparency regarding competing brands and channel conflicts;
- willingness to follow approved product and brand claims.

Appointment is subject to due diligence and a signed agreement.

One market. A focused range. A controlled proof cycle.

Step 1 — Qualify

Confirm partner identity, licenses, territory, channels, current accounts, logistics capability and launch plan.

Step 2 — Review the market route

Confirm product classification, import route, registration or notification needs, label language, responsible party and required technical documents.

Step 3 — Select the opening assortment

Choose one or more release-ready hero SKUs. Do not load every planned SKU into the first order by default.

Step 4 — Agree the commercial schedule

Products, prices, currency, Incoterms, MOQ, payment, forecast, territory, channels, launch support, targets and review dates are to be agreed in signed schedule.

Step 5 — Approve labels and assets

Complete market-specific legal review before packaging print, listing publication, creator seeding or order acceptance.

Step 6 — Pilot and measure

Track sell-in, sell-through, reorder rate, active doors, stock cover, content output, customer questions, complaints and returns.

Step 7 — Scale with evidence

Expand assortment, territory or exclusivity only after agreed milestones are achieved.

Brand consistency with local commercial intelligence

Specialist retail

Use strong pack recognition, staff education, product facts and locally suitable trial mechanics.

Ecommerce

Use approved product pages, accurate pack imagery, visible net contents, current stock status, clear delivery terms and responsive customer service.

Social commerce

Use authentic product demonstration, feeding context and approved facts. Creators must receive written claim guardrails.

Professional channels

Breeder, boarding, grooming, rescue and other professional-channel programs require clear pack economics, storage capability and product-use guidance.

Consumer direct

Local direct-to-consumer checkout should activate only after local stock, payment, delivery, returns, customer service and regulatory requirements are ready.

TALVUMI does not support uncontrolled cross-border listings that bypass the appointed market route.

Clear terms belong in a signed schedule.

The following items are not fixed by this catalog:

- product availability;
- final product specification;
- distributor or retail price;
- currency;
- MOQ by SKU or total order;
- samples and sample freight;
- order lead time;
- case pack and pallet load;
- Incoterms and named place;
- payment terms;
- quote validity;
- territory and approved channels;
- exclusivity;
- registration responsibilities and cost allocation;
- marketing contributions;
- sales targets;
- damaged-goods and returns terms;
- insurance, warranty and indemnity arrangements.

Each item is to be agreed in signed schedule after partner qualification, product release and market-route review.

No employee, representative, creator or intermediary may make a binding commercial commitment outside an authorized written agreement.

Performance earns protection.

TALVUMI does not intend to grant exclusivity solely in exchange for an initial order.

Any exclusive or protected appointment is to be agreed in signed schedule and may be conditional on:

- registration milestones;
- agreed launch date;
- minimum purchase and rolling forecast performance;
- active retail or ecommerce coverage;
- inventory availability and service levels;
- payment performance;
- approved pricing and brand presentation;
- content and launch execution;
- customer service and reporting;
- compliance with claims, traceability and quality procedures;
- periodic performance review.

Failure to meet agreed milestones may result in loss of exclusivity, channel limitation or transition to non-exclusive status, subject to the signed agreement.

Tell us how you will win the market

Qualified applicants should be prepared to provide:

Company

- registered company name, registration number and address;
- ownership and key contacts;
- years in operation;
- relevant import, feed, trade or distribution licenses;
- references or current principal brands where appropriate.

Market and channels

- requested territory;
- active customer accounts and channel mix;
- retail doors, ecommerce stores and professional accounts;
- current category sales and competitive set;
- planned launch channels and geographic coverage.

Operations

- warehouse location and conditions;
- inventory, batch and expiry control;
- fulfilment and last-mile partners;
- customer service and complaint process;
- recall and product-withdrawal capability.

Commercial plan

- proposed opening assortment;
- indicative first-order capacity;
- 12-month forecast assumptions;
- sales team and launch budget;
- local content and creator capability;
- proposed registration and launch timeline.

Submission does not guarantee appointment or exclusivity.

Start with a qualified market conversation.

1. Submit a partner profile

Share your company, territory, licenses, channels, operating capability and launch plan.

2. Join the qualification review

TALVUMI will review strategic fit, compliance capability, commercial readiness and channel conflicts.

3. Enter the product and market review

Selected partners may receive controlled product and technical information appropriate to the stage of discussion.

4. Agree and sign

Appointment, products, commercial terms, responsibilities and launch milestones become effective only in signed documents.
